

VERNON PRESS

www.vernonpress.com

$ 142

€ 122

£ 106

FLYPR12

12% DISCOUNT ONLINE
USE CODE AT CHECKOUT

VERNON PRESS
SERIES IN EDUCATION

Teaching and Learning Classics at the University Level Vol. 1

Languages, Linguistics & Teacher Training

Edited by Alberto Regagliolo

Edited by Alberto Regagliolo

Teaching and Learning Classics at the University Level Vol. 1

Languages, Linguistics & Teacher Training

SERIES IN EDUCATION

In my opinion, these volumes constitute an essential reference work for all those engaged in the instruction of Classics, as they address the most pertinent topics from a variety of methodologies, and they offer extremely useful materials and resources.

Dr. Rosa M<sup>a</sup> Marina Sáez
Professor of Latin Philology
Department of Ancient Studies
University of Zaragoza, Spain

Summary

'Teaching and Learning Classics at the University Level, Vol. 1' focuses on the teaching of Greek and Latin, with a particular emphasis on language, linguistics, and teacher training. The 13 chapters examine the approaches to teaching Greek and Latin for beginners and advanced students, including metrics, historical and descriptive grammar, linguistic typology, translation, and prose composition, as well as the role of Latin in the Humanities and in specialized fields such as medical terminology. The volume also addresses the training of teachers and lecturers in Classics, exploring how linguistic expertise and pedagogical practice are developed within the university context. Presenting teaching as a reflective and research-informed activity, this volume is intended for university lecturers, teacher trainers, and graduate students interested in classical language pedagogy and the future of Greek and Latin instruction in higher education.

About the editor

Alberto Regagliolo is an Assistant Professor of Linguistics at UKSW University, as well as a translator and graphic designer. He is a member of the research groups CODOLVA ('Corpus Documentale Latinum Valencie') and Teledantem-CORINEI ('Corpus Oral Interlengua Español Italiano'). He is an honorary fellow of the Department of Translation and Interpretation (University of Alicante). His scholarly interests include Latin and Italian language teaching and acquisition, the role of play in education, and the development of teaching materials. He has published on the didactics of Latin and Italian in international academic journals. Among his main works, he authored 'Latin in Spanish Primary Education: An Experience' (UKSW, 2023), 'Latin y Cultura Clásica. Educación Primaria' (2020), a Latin textbook for children, and four advanced Italian manuals for university students. He also serves as editor of the academic series 'Teaching and Italian Language in Higher Education' (Vernon Press, 2023, 2026) and 'Broadening Horizons in Classics: Primary and Secondary Education' (Vernon Press, 2026). Regagliolo teaches Latin and its relevance for philologists, Language Teaching for Children, Analysis of Teaching Materials, and Italian Language and Pragmatics.

June 2026 | Hardback 236x160mm | ISBN: 979-8-2616-0039-8

SUBJECTS Education, Language and Linguistics, Philosophy

VIEW/ORDER ONLINE AT vernonpress.com/book/2560